

ARCHERY AUSTRALIA NEWS Edition - 29 - 2016

31st October 2016

SCORING AT QRES AND REGISTERED TOURNAMENTS

As from 1st January 2017 all QRE's and Registered Tournaments results must show all arrow values in Archers Diary.

This can be undertaken by the Organising Committee with the use of IScored.today with the competitors entering the arrow values at the target using electronic devices.

Doing results in this manner will take a great deal of workload of the organising committee, speed up results and increase the level of accuracy and hopefully eliminate errors in results.

This will allow the scores to be used more effectively for ranking purposes and to assist the National Recorder in the processing of record claims.

This will also assist the High Performance Department in regard to performance analysis and talent identification.

IMPORTANT NOTE - At the recent National Championships some people encountered an issue using Apple devices and iScored.today.

This is due to the some security measures used by Apple.

This is not an issue if people using an Apple device followed step 2 of IScored.today Quick Start Guide CLICK HERE

This refers to the adding of a icon to the home screen of the device and allows the device to run the IScored.today from the icon.

iOS Devices (iPhone, iPad)

Open the iScore.today home page in the Safari Browser: <http://iscored.today>

Tap the menu button  and select [Add to Home Screen].
Click on the [Add] button to complete the process.
